

iPhone 17 Pro Price in Singapore Dollars — What to Know Before You Buy

Looking to find the latest price for the in Singapore? As of late 2025, there are official retail prices for the different storage variants. This article gives you a clear, up-to-date overview of iPhone 17 Pro pricing in Singapore dollars (SGD), and what that means if you plan to buy — either locally or abroad.

>>> CLICK HERE <<<

Official Singapore Retail Prices for iPhone 17 Pro

The official price for iPhone 17 Pro in Singapore starts at S$1,749 for the base model.

Here's a breakdown by storage capacity (as sold in Singapore):

iPhone 17 Pro – 256 GB S$ 1,749

iPhone 17 Pro – 512 GB S$ 2,049

iPhone 17 Pro – 1 TB S$ 2,349

These prices reflect the “unlocked / SIM-free” retail units as listed on official and major authorised Singapore sellers.

What Affects the Price in Singapore?

There are a few reasons why iPhone 17 Pro may cost more in Singapore than in some other markets — and why the price structure is what it is:

- Local retail pricing strategy: Apple and authorised retailers typically price based on local market dynamics — purchasing power, demand, taxes, import costs, and retail overhead. This often results in a higher price compared to base price in US dollars.
- Configurations and storage variants: Higher storage capacities (512 GB, 1 TB) come at a premium, because they offer more memory — which is noticeable in the jump from base 256 GB to top 1 TB.
- Official warranty / local support inclusion: Buying a Singapore-retail unit often includes 1-year local warranty and ensures you get a version intended for Singapore market.

How These Prices Compare Globally

In the US, the launch price for iPhone 17 Pro (base model) was announced at US $1,099.

When comparing with Singapore retail price, there is a noticeable markup — due to the factors mentioned above (market pricing strategy, taxes/import costs, regional adjustments). For many buyers who travel or import, this difference can be significant — but buying locally gives you official warranty coverage and easiest support access.

Availability and Where to Buy in Singapore

You can purchase iPhone 17 Pro in Singapore from the official online store, or from authorised retailers and major local distributors. According to Apple's Singapore shop, the 256 GB model is listed from S$1,749.

Retailers update stock and prices frequently, especially close to launch dates or during promotional events — so it's a good idea to check official sites or trusted stores before purchasing.

Is Buying iPhone 17 Pro in Singapore Worth It?

If you are in or near Singapore, buying locally offers advantages: official warranty, local support, and units configured for the region. The price, while higher than US base price, reflects these benefits. For many buyers — especially those who value warranty and support — the convenience can outweigh the cost difference.

However, if you're outside Singapore and considering importing or buying during travel, be aware of exchange rates, potential import duties or taxes in your home country, and possible difficulties with warranty coverage. In that case, you may want to compare final all-in costs (device price + shipping/import + tax) vs. buying locally in your home country.

>>> CLICK HERE <<<

Conclusion

The iPhone 17 Pro is officially sold in Singapore starting at S$1,749 for the 256 GB model, rising to S$2,049 (512 GB) and S$2,349 (1 TB). While these prices are higher than base US prices, they reflect local retail strategies, import costs, and regional support infrastructure. If you value warranty coverage and hassle-free purchasing — buying in Singapore is a safe bet. If you plan to import, make sure to factor in all extra costs before deciding.